About Your Study Drug

Upon receipt of the study drug, please store at room temperature.

Using the electronic diary app on your phone

Please use the electronic diary app on your phone to complete the HAE Attack Assessments for any HAE attacks you have. The app will confirm if you can use the study drug to treat your attack or if you should use your conventional medication.

Do not open the study kit drawer or take the study drug until you confirm in the diary app that you can use the study medication.

For help with the diary app, contact your study doctor or nurse, or contact the support team:

- ◆ Email:
helpdesk@snapiot.com
- ◆ Phone Number:
+1(833) 823-6643
- ◆ Available Hours
(US English/Spanish):
24 hours 7 days a week

HAE attack eligibility criteria

For an HAE attack to be considered eligible for treatment with the study drug, it must meet the following criteria:

- ◆ If the attack is in your throat, the symptoms are not severe.
- ◆ You know when the attack started.
- ◆ It has been at least 48 hours since you treated another HAE attack with conventional medication or the study drug.
- ◆ You can complete at least the first 4 hours of diary assessments following treatment with the study drug.
- ◆ You completed the post attack televisit for the previous eligible attack (pertains to attacks #2 and #3 only).

Using the study drug kit

Each study drug kit has 3 drawers to treat 3 separate HAE attacks.

- ◆ Each drawer contains a different amount of the study drug: 300mg KVD900, 600mg KVD900, or placebo. Placebo is a tablet that looks like KVD900 but has no medicine in it.
- ◆ You will take 2 tablets for each dose of study drug.
- ◆ Please use the drawers in numerical order to treat your HAE attacks:

Drawer 1 = first attack

Drawer 2 = second attack

Drawer 3 = third attack

Using the study drug kit (continued)

- ◆ Each drawer is further divided into 2 sections (one green and one red).

Green section = first dose for that attack (2 tablets)

Red section = second dose for that attack (2 tablets), if needed

- ◆ Every time you take a dose of the study drug you will be prompted by your diary app to scan the corresponding QR code or manually enter the code (XXXXX-X) located on the study kit drawer for that dose.
- ◆ The circled number in the bottom left corner indicates if the code is for dose 1 or dose 2.

The study doctor will explain in more detail how to use this kit.

Study call center

You will need to contact the Study Call Center up to 3 times:

- ◆ After you take your first dose
- ◆ Before you take a second dose (if you need to take it)
- ◆ Before you take your conventional medication (if you need to take it)

(877) 223-3576
(PIN # 54478)

Taking additional doses

- ◆ If your attack symptoms are severe enough that you need a second dose of study medication, you can take it after 3 hours.
- ◆ If you still need additional treatment, you can take your conventional medication 1 hour after your second dose of study medication.
- ◆ If you have a laryngeal attack or begin to feel attack symptoms in your throat or mouth, you may use your conventional medication anytime without waiting.

Frequency of electronic diary assessments

- ◆ The app will send you reminders for when each assessment is due.
- ◆ Make sure you turn on the notifications setting on the app.

If you decide to take your conventional medication after using the study drug, your diary app will ask you additional questions.

Your study doctor or nurse will call you after you have completed your 48-hour HAE Attack Assessments.

If you have health concerns during your HAE attacks, please call your study doctor.
